 INSTRUCTIONS

- Check those that most closely describe the services of your center. A Seventh-day Adventist Early Childhood Education and Care center is a purposefully organized entity hosted by a Seventh-day Adventist church or school and providing for the educational and custodial needs of young children who may range in age from birth through preschool, and before they enter formal elementary school, under the direction of trained personnel, and in accordance with PUCOE, ECEC policies, procedures, guidelines and relevant state regulations. In addition it may include programs for kindergarten and extended care for school age children and is a component of the educational system of the Pacific Union Conference.
- Breakdown of enrollment by contractual agreement. See enclosed census worksheet.
- Include all enrolled clients; fulltime and part-time.
- Provide a breakdown of religious affiliation, based on whether or not the child has at least one Adventist parent or guardian, or none.
