

Snowflake Letter Bingo—Brrr!

Teacher Instructions: Print up enough bingo cards so that each student has one. Each student will need one bingo card and a few small objects to cover up the letters on their card. Pass out the bingo cards and small objects to the students. Explain to the students how bingo works (see the "Student Instructions" below).

To play, show and/or state one word/question at a time (or you can use a set of picture flashcards). For example, for the letter "c", you can either say the letter "c" or the word "cat". You need to say words for each letter of the alphabet in random order (but someone may get bingo before you have gone through all the letters). Continue until a student gets "bingo" with four (4) adjacent letter sounds on the bingo card. If you like, you can check the winner's answers at the end.

Student Instructions: Listen to the words/questions that the teacher says. Every time the teacher says a word/question, figure out what the first letter of the word or answer is. Look for that letter sound on your bingo card. Put an object on that letter if it is there. When you have covered any four (4) letters in a row next to each other, you have won — call out BINGO!
